POPE'S PLEA HALTS NAZI POLISH DRIVE

VATICAN CITY, May 6 (INS) —A plea from Pope Pius XII for a peaceful solution of the Danzig problem was conveyed to Chancellor Hitler by Msgr. Cesare Orsenigo, nuncio to Berlin, it was learned from unimpeachable authorities today.

Msgr. Orsenigo urged a "satisfactory" settlement of all German-Polish differences, it was understood.

By submitting positive suggestions to Hitler, the Pope implied that he was willing to offer his services as mediator.

The fact that the papal emissary remained with Hitler an hour and a half at Berchtesgaden yesterday was regarded by Vatican authorities as a favorable sign.

Msgr. Orsenigo, it was anticipated, will be summoned back to Berchtesgaden when Hitler's reply is ready. Definite details of the papal message were not revealed.

Pope Pius will deliver a radio broadcast, receivable in the United States by short wave at 7 a. m. (E. D. T.) tomorrow, in which it is believed he will issue a general appeal for world peace. The speech is directed toward an Algerian National Eucharistic Congress.

The Boston Daily Record will carry the Pope's message in its editions on sale early Sunday evening.

Poles Back Beck Stand, Wait Move by Hitler

WARSAW, May 6 (AP)—The Polish people rallied today behind Foreign Minister Joseph Beck's rejection of German demands on the free city of Danzig and Pomorze (the Polish Corridor), holding that the next move was up to Germany.

Reports of possible mediation, both by the Vatican and Italy were given little consideration.

A belief that the next 24 hours may determine the future of Polish-German relations prevailed.

Apparently reflecting the general attitude of the press, the newspaper Kurjer Czerwony declared:

"The world now agrees that Berlin must give proof that it actually wants an understanding with Poland."

Rumors that Germany might stage a war-like demonstration in the direction of Danzig and Pomorze produced no visible alarm. To these rumors of German direct action, Poles only shrugged their shoulders.

Poland, declared the National Democrats' Warszawski Dziennick, still has unsatisfied claims against Germany. It contended that Polish possessions on the Baltic were a minimum for the nation's continued existence.

"For us," it said, "Danzig is a Polish town historically, geo-

King, Queen Sail For America 'Mid Cheers of Throngs

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., May 6—King George VI and Queen Elizabeth sailed today amid the thundering farewell of saluting warships and shore batteries on their precedent-breaking trip of more than six weeks to Canada and the United States.

Their vessel, the German-built Empress of Australia, sailed promptly at 3 p. m. (10 a. m. E. D. T.).

As the mooring ropes were cast off and tugs pulled the liner's nose slowly out from the dock the king and queen stood watching the flag-decked warships and the cheering thousands.

Frequently they waved as the ship drew away and as the liner passed through the narrow harbor mouth, the roar of cheering and thunder of salutes roll edout.

SEND LOVE TO U. S.

The London-to-Portsmouth journey of King George, who will be the first reigning British sovereign to visit North America, and his wife was one of triumph.

The train was slowed down in its run so Britons who massed at flag-draped stations along the route could cheer the royal party.

Crowds were packed along the tightly-guarded train route and thousands on thousands of spectators greeted their arrival at Portsmouth where the sovereign received the golden keys of the garrison.

Shouts of "God bless you," "give our love to America," and "a happy voyage," broke through the din of cheering.

One group held up a streamer marked "tell Portsmouth, U. S. A., that old Portsmouth sends them hearty greetings."

KENNEDY SAYS GOODBYE

Behind them, the monarchs left their two children—Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose. Both of the royal youngsters, it had been decided, were too young to make the arduous six weeks' trip.

But the little Princesses, together with Queen Mary and the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent, came down to Portsmouth on the farewell trip.

TRIPLE-AXIS THREATENED BY NAZIS' NEW DEMANDS

WASHINGTON, May 6 (INS)—Secret reports to Washington indicate the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo axis is beginning to crack up.

The belief is growing in responsible quarters that the partnership of Germany, Italy and Japan would not stand the strain of any major war precipitated by Germany's ambition to dominate Europe.

Premier Mussolini is understood to have urged Chancellor Hitler to move with extreme caution in his demands on Poland, intimating that Italy is not prepared to plunge into a general war just because the Reich wants Danzig and the Polish Corridor.

This is assigned as the reason for Germany's frantic current wooing of Italy in an effort to bring forth a definite alliance for mutual military assistance if further steps by the Reich in central Europe should touch off a major conflict.

High officials of the American, British and French governments have not given up hope that Italy may desert her axis partner again as she did in the World War.

It is admitted, at the same time, that completion of a triple military entente between Britain, France and Russia may, however, force Italy to announce openly a military pact with Germany.

Link Blonde to Hunt For West Point Star

A mysterious blonde, thought to know the secret of the disappearance of Capt. Henry Flood, former Boston College student and West Point athlete, was sought throughout New England today as the search for the missing officer turned from Maine to Boston.

When last seen, two days before the discovery of his abandoned, blood-stained auto, Captain Flood had the young woman and a strange man as passengers in Auburn, Me.

Police recovered his automobile on April 26, two weeks ago. Since then, state police and officers of Lewiston-Auburn, as well as officials of Fort McKinley, Me., have run down every clue for trace of the vanished man.

ANALYZED AS BLOOD

Grave apprehension was felt when a police chemist analyzed stains in Flood's car as human blood.

Because the captain had previously suffered attacks of amnesia, police also worked on the theory he may be wandering ill through the country, possibly in the direction of Southern army posts where he has seen service.

His description was sent to police departments of the New England and adjoining states. Greater Boston officers were especially alert, on the chance he may appear in the vicinity of his mother's home in Waterhouse street, Somerville.

VANISHED AT B. C.

Flood, according to Col. Charles A. Hunt, commandant of harbor fortifications, had suffered from an attack of amnesia five years ago while stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

Shortly after he was graduated from Boston College High School and entered Boston College, he also disappeared and was found in the Philippines, where he had joined the army.

Later he passed an examination for West Point and received his commission.

Informed of his disappearance, a brother, Mark, came here several days ago to join in the search.

The missing officer, a former West Point baseball star, had been living alone in private quarters outside the army reservation. His wife, Mrs. Consuelo Flood, resides in San Antonio, Tex.

SEEN WITH COUPLE

On the day of his disappearance, Capt. Flood was seen to leave his apartment and drive away in his car. He was alone, army officials said.

The following day he was seen by a friend in Auburn. In his car with him were a strange man and woman.

Since then, however, no trace of him has been found, Capt. Rowland R. Street, assistant regimental adjutant, reported.

Tagged on April 25 for all-night parking, Flood's car was picked up by Auburn police on the following day and towed to a local garage. Police said the key was missing but the door was unlocked.

GIRL, 8, ROMPS AGAIN, CHEATING SURGEON'S KNIFE

Faith of her father in her recovery and use of X-ray despite decision by doctors that amputation of her leg was necessary to save her life, apparently have restored the health of Dorothy Lewis, aged 8. The girl now challenges the surgeons to a foot race.

NEW YORK, May 6 (INS)—Told by 20 surgeons a few months ago they would have to amputate her right leg or she would die, 8-year-old Dorothy Lewis not only kept both legs but jumped rope and played hop-scotch today with her friends.

"Those doctors talked a lot of baloney," said Dorothy exultantly. "I'm gonna buy a pair of red shoes and maybe see the world's fair."

Dorothy, daughter of William Lewis, a laborer in the Queens County park department, developed what the doctors said was cancer of the thigh. All agreed only an operation could save her.

But the girl insisted she wanted to keep both legs, and her two sisters and her brother urged her not to have the operation.

So X-ray treatments were tried. In March Dorothy threw away her crutches, and now she is helping the family budget by selling pretzels in her home neighborhood.

"I bet I can outrun those doctors around the block," she said.

The doctors say the "irradiation" treatments have proved temporarily effective," but are not positive that Dorothy is entirely cured.

Methodists Would Ease Remarriage of Divorced

KANSAS CITY, May 6 (AP)—Scrapping traditional rules of discipline a special committee today recommended liberalization of divorce regulations for the new unified Methodist church.

Delegates from the Southern and Protestant denominations agreed to the liberalization under which mental and physical cruelty would be recognized as equally just grounds for divorce as infidelity.

ALLOWS REMARRIAGES

The proposal goes before the convention's 900 delegates for final action. It was made by a general committee on ministry and judicial administration which has been hearing debate on the delicate and controversial subject in "off the record" sessions.

Dr. Orlea W. Fifer of Cincinnati, chairman of the committee, said his group had voted to substitute the Northern church rule concerning divorce for the regulation set forth in the prospectus for the plan of union.

Ministers thus would be permitted to remarry the "innocent party" to a divorce obtained on the prescribed grounds.

CHANGE WINS FAVOR

The Northern Church, which holds that marriage is "both human and divine," says this regarding marriage of divorced persons:

"No minister shall solemnize the marriage of a divorced person whose divorced wife or husband is living and unmarried.

"But this rule shall not apply (1) to the innocent person when it is clearly established by competent testimony that the true cause for divorce was infidelity or other vicious conditions which through mental or physical cruelty or physical peril invalidated the marriage vow nor (2) to divorced persons seeking to be reunited in marriage."

War Veteran Robbed Of $700 on Leaving Bank in Cambridge

A few moments after he had drawn $700 from a Cambridge bank today, a disabled war veteran was robbed of the money by two "swarthy, foreign-looking men" who pushed him into a doorway in Cambridge street, near Third street, Cambridge.

The victim, Isadore Griscus, 50, of Berkshire street, Cambridge, told police he believed the robbers must have seen him get his cash at the East Cambridge Savings Bank.

He said the two men approached him with the excuse of asking for a match.

Then, before he could reach for one, they forced him into the doorway. One robber held him, while the other seized the $700, taking it directly from his right hand trousers pocket where he had placed it at the bank.

Griscus said he had $4 in his left hand pocket, but the robbers didn't look for that.

After giving him a severe mauling and warning him against following, his assailants fled.

Griscus said he had withdrawn the $700 to makes a mortgage payment on a house he owns in Watertown.

The $700 represented all his savings, he said, except $50 which he left in the bank.

AUTOPSY SHOWS BAT VICTIM BLED TO DEATH

An internal hemorrhage resulting from injury to the heavy protective envelope covering the brain and spinal cord caused the death of 13-year-old Catherine Breen of Mill Lane, Hingham, tragically struck down by a baseball bat in the hands of a school comrade.

The girl suffered a fractured skull and what is medically known as an "extradural hemorrhage" bleeding from the thousands of tiny blood vessels which nourish the brain's protecting glove, Medical Examiner Robert R. Ryan of Weymouth declared today.

Funeral services for the child will be held Monday in St. Paul's Catholic Church, with interment in St. Paul's cemetery.

At first the child laughed off the injury like a good sport but a few hours later she died in her mother's arms at Weymouth Hospital.

An eighth grade pupil at the Hingham, Catherine had been playing softball with a group of her companions when she was injured. She was taken to her home, when she lapsed into unconsciousness.

Summoned by the girl's mother, Mrs. John Breen, a local physician discovered she was suffering from a fractured skull and ordered her removed to the Weymouth Hospital.

'END COAL STRIKE,' F. D. WIRES

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt took a hand in the deadlocked soft coal negotiations today by telling both operators and labor that "agreement must be reached promptly" on a new wage contract.

With 460,000 United Mine Workers idle in 26 states and reports of threatened coal shortages in many communities increasing, Mr. Roosevelt said differences between the two groups "appear not to be insurmountable and the orderly process of collective bargaining should suffice to bring about their adjustment."

He expressed his views in a telegram to John R. Steelman, chief of the labor department's conciliation service, who is in New York trying to work out an agreement. The message was dispatched to Steelman last night and made public at the White House this morning.

La Guardia Aide Warns N. Y. Coal Crisis Grave

NEW YORK, May 6 (INS)—James Kieran, secretary to Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, today pleaded with deadlocked mine union leaders and soft coal operators that they reach early agreement to avert a "very serious situation" in New York city which would include complete shutdown of the rapid transit lines which daily bear millions of the metropolis' workers.

Kieran's appeal followed delivery to Federal Labor Conciliator Dr. John R. Steelman of the peace telgram from President Roosevelt.

Keiran warned that in a city the size of New York, paralysis of the transportation systems would be as critical as shutting off the city's water supply.

COAL VITAL TO CITY

"This city is facing a very serious emergency," Kieran told sub committees representing both sides.

"It faces the shutting off of rapid transit in a very short time unless it gets coal.

"Coal supplies are dwindling. Their depletion will affect not only the rapid transit systems, but will extend to such essential services as fire department water pressure, city hospitals and other public services.

"It is our job to keep this city running."

Only a forlorn hope the deadlock would be broken was held out as the conference was resumed.

26 DAYS' COAL SUPPLY

Meanwhile, production of soft coal throughout the nation came to a virtual halt as 130,000 western miners joined 320,000 Appalachian workers in the bituminous stoppage.

Statisticians estimated the available supply of soft coal now above grounds is sufficient to meet the needs of the nation for only 26 days.

Extension of the partial paralysis of operations to New ork's harbor traffic was forecast when heads of two towboat firms declared they were forced to lay up coal-burning tugs. These tugs perform many essential services, including garbage disposal, docking of incoming liners and towing outward guiding of departing ships, barges and lighters.

Praying Woman Dies Vainly Fighting Fire

LOS ANGELES, May 6 (AP)—Mrs. Tarin Enriquetta, 70 and feeble, was deeply religious. In her home was a tiny altar where she often knelt in prayer.

Last night she died, kneeling.

She had been at her prayers when a candle fell, setting the altar ablaze. She tried to beat out the spreading flames, but failed. Finally, she stumbled into a bathroom.

There again she knelt. Firemen found her dead from suffocation, in the only room which had not burned.

Karl Wickerhauser

Italy Said 'No'—Jean Lawson to Wed Here

Balked by Italian regulations, Mrs. Jean Lawson Edwards, 41, daughter of the late financial wizard, Tom Lawson, and Karl Wickerhauser, 36, Austrian newspaperman, will culminate a two-continent romance Wednesday with a wedding ceremony on Beacon Hill.

It is a romance which began on Italy's famed Isle of Capri, but it will be culminated on Beacon Hill because the bride-to-be's passport has not sufficient data to permit marriage in Italy.

Lawson is also endeavoring to obtain a two-week extension of the visitor's passport under which the Austrian writer entered this country. The present permit expires the day after the wedding.

Unless the permit is extended, the couple plan to leave Thursday for Cuba, from which they will re-enter the country and Wickerhauser will then apply for citizenship papers.

Should the extension be granted, they will delay their departure for Cuba two weeks.

The couple came to the United States to wed after they failed in Italy because Mrs. Edwards was unable to prove satisfactorily to authorities that she was "aryan." Her birth certificate contained no data on race or color.

"Trying to get married in Europe these days is quite a proposition," she said last night. "It seems good to get back to a land where people can be free to marry whom and when they want to."

Mrs. Edwards, who is making her home with her brother, has lived in Europe for the past nine years and met her intended bridegroom in Austria four years ago.

He left Austria last year for Capri and it was there that the couple decided they would marry. She was widowed in 1922 when her first husband, Allison Edwards, Harvard graduate and World War veteran, died in China.

Her father took part in many spectacular copper market raids, amassing fortunes in the millions only to lose them in equally spectacular fashion in the market.

At the time of his death in 1925 he was starting another "comeback." After he died, his estate, "Dreamwold," became a real estate development and his $100,000 mansion was demolished.

MRS. E. BRENNER
Can't Recall Bridal

MARRIAGE A 'BLANK' TO BRIDE

She had been drinking and her marriage wasn't even a dim memory the next day.

So did Mrs. Elizabeth Brennet testify in an annulment petition brought in Suffolk Superior Court by Kenneth Brenner, night club singer. Proceedings were continued until next Friday.

The attractive 26-year-old brunette, who this week appealed a reformatory sentence on a charge of polygamy, was the only witness to testify prior to the postponement by Judge Frederick Dillon.

"We had been drinking and I didn't remember a thing about it," she declared.

The ceremony, it was testified, took place Dec. 12, 1937 at Seabrook, N. H. She denied living with Brenner, although his petition states they lived together for two weeks after the marriage.

Mrs. Brenner was arrested after Wilbur Herman of Somerville broke into the apartment in Roxbury where the Brenners were living. He told police he had married the girl when she was only 18.

HOLLYWOOD, May 6—For 19 years, beautiful Constance Moore, singing screen star, has been doing what mama said, but now her heart belongs to Johnny.

This she revealed today by turning thumbs down on any attempt at annulment of her marriage last week to Johnny Maschio, actors' agent, with whom she eloped to Tia Juana, Mex.

The Haven-Monteagles were successful in winning an annulment when Johnny married their socialite daughter, Jehanne.

Miss Moore, who ranks with Deanna Durbin as Universal's big hope for 1939, go her first real break in "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man", in which she played with W. C. Fields and popular Edgar Bergen and his Charlie McCarthy.

Spellman's Message Awaited

An important message to his parishioners—and to Catholics throughout the nation—will be delivered next week by Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, he announced after receiving visiting members of the Catholic hierarchy of New York.

The newly-created Archbishop of New York did not indicate what the message would be, but stated it will be followed by his farewell address to his parishioners Sunday, May 21. His only other public appearance, meanwhile, will be to confirm a class of 215 boys and girls of his own parish, that of the Sacred Heart, in Newton on May 14.

Archbishop Spellman was visited yesterday by Msgr. Michael J. Lavelle, 86, who is Vicar of New York, and Msgr. John J. Casey of the Cathedral of St. Patrick, who was private secretary to the late Cardinal Hayes. The dignitaries were accompanied by Rev. Henry Hammer of Pelham, assistant rector of St. Patrick's.

Lynch Mob Foiled by Ruse Of Sheriff

PINE BLUFF, Ark., May 6 (AP)—A quick thinking, steel nerved sheriff was credited today with saving from mob action a prisoner held for the assault-killing of a 19-year-old farm girl.

A crowd of 100 men clustered about the county jail and asked for the 23-year-old youth who officers said confessed slaying brunette Irene Taylor "because she had a pretty box of candy I wanted."

"Come on in boys," invited Sheriff Garland Brewster, "you can search this jail if you want to but you won't find that man.

"We got him away a long time ago. If you don't believe me come on in and look for yourself."

His offer was not accepted. The group dispersed.

While the sheriff talked, three deputies eased the prisoner out a side door into an automobile and away to an undisclosed jail.

Three others under arrest admitted, the sheriff said, dragging the body of the girl to a bayou where it was sunk under the weight of scrap iron.

The trio—a woman, 45, an 18-year-old boy and 15-year-old girl also was removed to another jail.

150 Flee 3-Alarm Charlestown Blaze

Tons of wood pulp worth half a million dollars were endangered and 150 persons aroused today by a fire of suspicious origin which swept a Charlestown tenement building, near the State Prison.

Flames raced from the cellar to top floor of the vacant three-story structure, while firemen battled an hour to prevent the blaze from spreading to an adjoining newsprint storehouse, in Tibbetts Town way.

Fire officials reported the blaze was the tenth of incendiary origin in recent weeks, although Chief Samuel A. Pope blamed "trespassers" rather than a firebug.

Mrs. Alice Smith, occupant of a nearby apartment, discovered smoke pouring from the basement and first floor windows of the building and called Patrolman Joseph Murphy, Charlestown route officer, and then rang the alarm.

Because of the fire menace the paper warehouse and the congested tenement section surrounding the burning building, District Chief Philip J. Tague ordered second and third alarms sounded in quick succession.

Narrow alleys separated the flaming structure from three tenement houses. Police and firemen ran through the buildings, arousing sleepers and warning them to be ready to flee in case the blaze could not be checked. Wires leading from the structure to one tenement were cut.

At the height of the fire, Mrs. Edith Harris, 34, of Mill street, an expectant mother, was removed from her home across the street and taken to City Hospital.

Considerable smoke damage was caused in the paper warehouse and in one spot, on the fourth floor, flames broke through but were quickly extinguished. Chief Pope estimated the total loss at $10,000.

Inmates of the prison were awakened by apparatus but caused no disturbance.

Officials said the fire was apparently set by intruders who had broken into the building to smoke and sleep.

During the past six weeks, nine suspicious fires, several of which were reported set deliberately, have kept Charlestown firemen busy at night. Two alarms were sounded for one and 15 occupants of a Main street apartment house were forced to flee.

'FOX' GORMAN

Pride in Bride Jails Husband

NORWALK, Ct., May 6 (INS)—Joseph (Fox) Gorman knew he was "hot" here, yet he couldn't resist an impulse to show off his bride to his family. So he's in a cell today.

Gorman, who is 27 and has a long police record plus terms in a reformatory, jail and state prison, met Juanita J. Glisson, a waitress, in Miami and married her after a brief courtship.

He brought her to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gorman, where Police Captain John Flynn arrested him for the $2700 robbery of the Norwalk railroad station in December, 1938.

Proxy Marriage of Deaf Mutes Denied by 'Bride'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 6 (AP)—A deaf mute's testimony that he married another mute by proxy with his sister acting as a stand-in for the bride confronted a criminal court jury today.

The story of the marriage was related by Theodore Cutshaw, 28, charged with false swearing in connection with an affidavit he filed in a habeas corpus action contending his "wife's" parents kept them apart by force.

Cutshaw testified through an interpreter, he married Mae Swinney, 17, last September at Middlesboro, Ky., with his sister Emily acting as Mae in the ceremony.

The defendant said Mae authorized his sister's stand-in, but Mae, an attractive brunette, denied this through an interpreter.

LOVE NOTE SUIT MARS O'BRIEN HONEYMOON

Stanley E. O'Brien, 44, wealthy Yarmouth, N. S., business man, whose love is valued at $100,000 by Miss Elinor K. Jordan of Medford, today was revealed as twice married and owner of some of Yarmouth's largest industries.

In her suit, soon to be heard by an auditor in Middlesex County, Miss Jordan charges the Nova Scotiaman made ardent love only to refuse later to marry her.

A total of 40 torrid love letters, allegedly written by O'Brien, are listed in interrogatories filed in the heart balm suit, one of the last to be entered before such suits were outlawed by the Legislature.

O'Brien, now married, is living at the Grand Hotel in Yarmouth. His bride is a former telephone operator, Elsie Burrill, a pretty brunette in her 20's.

He married her after being divorced from his first wife, who was a Miss Brown, the daughter of a prominent resident of Port Maitland, N. S.

O'Brien is a part owner of the Grand Hotel, owns a fruit business and has investments in other industries.

The flaming letters of love, which Miss Jordan charges were penned by O'Brien, are contained in more than a dozen of typewritten pages. No actual handwriting of O'Brien is contained in the documents. He is asked in each case whether he wrote the letter.

He has given but one answer: "At present I cannot say."

ambassador to London, were prominent among those who bade the King and Queen bon voyage at Waterloo station in London.

LOTS OF CLOTHES

After 20 large wardrobe trunks containing the Queen's gowns and 50 uniforms of the King—and 20 other pieces of baggage had been stowed away, an attendant made sure the monarch's electric razor fit the electric outlet in his suite.

A squadron of Royal Air Force planes was detailed to escort the liner as far as the Needles, with an honor guard of 17 ships of the home fleet in the English Channel.

The routine duties of the throne have been left in the hands of a specially-appointed "council of state"—composed of the Duke of Gloucester, the Duke of Kent, the Princess Royal, and Prince Arthur of Connaught.

MAY REIGN BY RADIO

In the event of any serious crisis during his absence, the King will "reign by radio." Advance arrangements have been made should any occasion arise. All during the journey the King will receive daily advices from London.

On the liner, the royal party was immediately escorted to the specially-outfitted "luxury suite." Thirty minutes later the ship, accompanied by two heavily-armed cruisers, passed into the English channel.

Members of the entourage, numbering 60, have been quartered aboard the liner, although that portion used by the monarchs has been strictly ruled off. Ordinarily, the Empress carries 1200 passengers.

IN WALES' OLD SUITE

The King and Queen are occupying the two suites which housed the Duke of Windsor (then Prince of Wales), and Lord (then Stanley) and Lady Baldwin in 1928.

As guests of President Roosevelt, their majesties will cross the border into the United States on June 7, at Niagara, where they will be received by an official reception committee.

They will immediately proceed by train to Washington where they will be met personally at Union Station by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The President and his party will then drive to the White House, where the heads of missions of diplomatic corps will be received.

Then will follow a round of luncheons, state dinners, and receptions, coupled with trips to Arlington Cemetery and Mount Vernon.

On June 10 the royal guests will pay an official visit to New York City and the World's Fair. In the afternoon they will proceed by motor to the President's home at Hyde Park, where they will remain for a day before returning to Canada.

SCHEME TO LURE U. S. INTO WAR BARED

Nye Quotes Boasts Of British Author

(Special to Boston Evening American)

WASHINGTON, May 6—Concentrated propaganda, aimed to sway racial and religious groups, is a part of the elaborate scheme of the British to draw America into the next war as a British ally.

This is revealed in the startling book, "Propaganda in the Next War," by Sidney Rogerson, English author, as disclosed on the floor of the Senate by Senator Gerald P. Nye (R.) of North Dakota, in a timely warning to the American people.

Pointing directly to the Jewish persecution that has taken place in Nazi Germany, and declaring that the American public is easily susceptible to the propagandizing of issues predicated on prejudices, Rogerson wrote:

"There remain the Jews. It has been estimated that of the world Jew population of approximately 15,000,00 no fewer than 5,000,000 are in the United States, 25 per cent of the inhabitants of New York are Jews.

"During the great war we bought off this huge American Jewish public by the promise of the Jewish National Home in Palestine, held by Ludendorff to be master stroke of allied propaganda, as it enabled us not only to appeal to Jews in America but to Jews in Germany as well.

"Since then our attempts to implement our undertaking have landed us in difficulties with the Indigenous Arabs, agitated by Italian propaganda, without satisfying the Jews. We have not satisfied the educated British Jews. How much less have we satisfied the more remote Jew community on the other side of the Atlantic?

"In addition, the recent realistic policy of the British Government has been worked up into a propaganda of significant extent and intensity which represents Great Britain as being 'Half Fascist,' excuse the label, all ready and prepared to 'sell the democratic pass' and go 'all Fascist' at the first convenient opportunity."

At this point the author injected another class issue, religion, saying:

"This is being developed by the intense Jewish hatred of Germany and from her of all dictator countries, and backed by the influence of the Catholic Church and undenominational liberals.

"In general, the situation in the United States is more favorable to Great Britain than in 1914, in that the obvious centers of infection have been removed, but less favorable in that we have temporarily lost caste as a 'democratic' state because of the propaganda which represents us as truckling to, or at least having truck with 'dictators.'

Hitler Ready to Dicker —If He Gets Danzig

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, May 6—Adolf Hitler remains ready and willing to hear any concrete proposal from Poland regarding settlement of the Danzig and Polish Corridor problems, it was stressed in authoritative quarters in Berlin today.

While the controlled press gave vent to anger over Polish Foreign Minister Beck's repudiation of the German claims, well-informed circles made clear Hitler was planning no precipitate action and remained receptive to any "realistic suggestions."

CLIMAX IN 10 DAYS

It was confirmed that Hitler had a long talk with Monsignor Cesare Orsenigo, Papal Nuncio to Berlin.

The general impression prevailed that some sort of a Polish-German climax could be expected during the next ten days.

It was assumed that Polish Ambassador Lipski will be granted an interview with Hitler, provided he has sufficiently constructive proposals to offer, such as return of Danzig to the Reich early enough so that Hitler's patience does not become exhausted.

Through its foreign office organ, Diplomatic Correspondence, Germany warned the Polish government that it can no longer expect "understanding and tolerance" from Berlin.

HINTS AT PLEBISCITE

At the same time, the government-controlled Nazi press published a series of new reports charging fresh outrages were being perpetrated against the German minority in Poland.

These charges accompanied broad hints of a German campaign for a plebiscite in Danzig on the issue of reunion with Germany.

In addition, Germany moved forward another step toward neutralization of Poland's Baltic nations as Estonia followed Latvia in accepting a German proposal for a non-aggression pact.

Lithuania already has entered a non-aggression agreement with the Reich.

Missing U. S. Yacht Reaches Norway

LONDON, May 6 (INS)—Apprehension over the safety of the luxury yacht Jeanry, five days late on its maiden voyage from Lowestoft to Oslo, evaporated today when word was received the vessel had arrived safely at the Norwegian capital.

The yacht is owned by an American, Henry Vomberg, who is associated with the Guaranty Trust Co.

Warns of Propaganda

France in 7-Way Defense Plan

PARIS, May 6 (INS)—Seven new decrees designed to strengthen the passive defense of France were issued today as the cabinet of Premier Edouard Daladier held a vitally important meeting at which the European crisis was thoroughly reviewed.

The decrees:

1—Tighter control over the foreign press.

2—"Passive defense" lessons for French children at all schools.

3—Modification of military requisition laws pertaining to supplies.

4—Modification of the laws of maritime insurance and war risk clauses.

5—Reorganization and improvement of minerals essential to nation defense.

The sixth and seventh decrees pertained to government economy, relating chiefly to dismissal of numerous functionaries.

NEW IRISH BOMB BLAST

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, May 6 (AP)—A bomb explosion today destroyed the recreation club of the Catholic Young Men's Society.

BRITISH DELAY ACTION ON PACT WITH RUSSIA

LONDON, May 6 (INS)—Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky conferred today with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax in an attempt to end the diplomatic impasse which is keeping Russia out of the Anglo-French bloc, but Maisky left with the impression that Britain has rejected Russia's proposals for a military alliance.

Britain, in the meantime, is holding up her reply to Moscow's offer, which included demands for guarantees in the Far East.

Maisky and Lord Halifax discussed the broad outline of the British reply, but the answer was not explained in detail even to the Soviet ambassador. The Briton said a full reply would be communicated to Moscow soon.

It was believed the British had purposely stalled its efforts to bring the Soviets into the anti-aggression front while seeking to find out exactly why Maxim Litvinoff "resigned" as the U S S. R.'s foreign commissar.

Suspicions grew in diplomatic quarters that Litvinov's removal may have constituted an "anti-British move."

It became evident Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his cabinet colleagues are determined not to commit Britain to undertakings which might embroil her in Soviet-Japanese rivalry in the Orient.

Somewhat ironically, German Ambassador Herbert von Dirksen, returning to his post after a long absence in Berlin, reached the British capital just in time to observe this rather turgid diplomatic situation.

He immediately set to work to ascertain for Berlin's information what direction Britain's policy now may be expected to follow.

Nazi-Italian Parley Weighs Polish Crisis

MILAN, May 6 (INS)—With Premier Mussolini reported determined to effect a peaceful solution of the German-Polish squabble over Danzig and the Corridor, Foreign Ministers Ciano and Joachim von Ribbentrop met in Milan this afternoon for two days of highly important diplomatic conversations.

Press attaches made known at the outset the conversations would be shrouded in utmost secrecy, but there was no attempt to deny repeated reports that Il Duce is seeking to restrain Adolf Hitler from precipitate action.

Italian newspapers, controlled by the government, pressed for a peaceful settlement, urging Germany to take advantage of the opportunity for diplomatic negotiations afforded by Polish Foreign Minister Beck in his speech to the Sejm (Parliament) yesterday.

According to authoritative indications, Italy is prepared to support Germany's claim to Danzig and to urge Poland's acceptance of Hitler's demand for incorporation of the free city in the Reich.

Mussolini is represented as reluctant to bring the problem of the Polish Corridor to a head for fear of the possible consequences.

Italian circles are convinced Anglo-French support of Poland will not be extended to defense of Danzig, but they are said to be "most concerned" regarding the reaction of the "London-Paris axis" to any attempt to carry out Hitler's demands in the Corridor.

On the other hand, informed circles said that the attitude of the Rome-Berlin axis towards Poland's prospects of being able to resist the German demands was "heavily reinforced" by the conviction there that removal of Maxim Litvinov as Soviet foreign commissar was torpedoed the projected Anglo-French-Russian alliance.

Moores End Battle On 'Divorce Baby'

Red-headed Marianne H. S. Moore, divorced wife of Director Raymond H. Moore of the Cape Cod Playhouse in Dennis, really meant it when she said she wanted to forget it all, go west and start life anew.

Until a day or two ago, she was trying to have the divorce decree rescinded.

The baby was born two months after her husband was granted his decree, and that was the basis of her plea for court reconsideration.

The case was still surrounded with an aura of mystery today, with George A. Cataldo, her lawyer announcing:

"She's leaving under an agreement that will be explained later."

A nurse accompanied mother and infant as far as the Newark airport.

Mrs. Moore plans to visit her parents in Santa Barbara, Cal., and rest her nerves.

When she feels well enough, she will go to Hollywood, Cal., and return to her original profession of nursing.

Barnstable probate court issued the divorce decree nisi, and Cataldo was scheduled to appear there Tuesday and ask it be set aside. He won't. The lady doesn't care any more, he said.

Wins Divorce From Husband As 'Too Scotch'

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—Mrs. Mathilda Smiley has a high regard for thriftiness but her Scotch husband, James, 65, carried it too far, she complained in divorce court.

Judge Robert C. O'Connell thought so, too, after hearing Mrs. Smiley testify. He awarded her a decree on grounds of cruelty.

Mrs. Smiley, who is of German ancestry, said she had to use a 35-year-old hand-wound phonograph if she wanted music.

"He said it cost less than the radio," she explained.

"He'd only let me have one light lit in the house—in the kitchen.

"He wanted me to cut my hair short so I wouldn't have to go to a beauty parlor.

"He'd never have enough heat in the house, even when we had guests. He'd furnish them with coats while they were calling.

"Why, judge, to save on gas he'd even make me use the water I'd boiled his egg in to make tea."

2 Die When Freight Crashes Gas Truck

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., May 6 (AP)—An Atlantic Coast Line freight train and a gasoline transport truck collided at a crossing here today, killed the truck driver and the engineer, and severely burned two trainmen.

The gushing gasoline ignited, burned six box cars, and, pouring into a sewer, caused several minor explosions on nearby streets. Four houses along the railroad track were destroyed by fire.

New Council Drive For Hospital Purge

Long-standing rancour over retention of Miss Laura Logan as superintendent of nurses at City Hospital flared to a new high today following warning that the city council would again refuse to approve an appropriation for her salary.

The warning was sounded by Councilor John B. Kelly of Dorchester who said $16,500—the total of salaries of Miss Logan and seven assistants—would be slashed from the hospital budget every year until they are discharged.

Kelly and Councilor Philip A. Fish, also of Dorchester, declared they would also call upon the Council to slash from the budget another item calling for $5500 for special courses for student nurses at Boston University and lectures for their benefit by medical experts.

Kelly launched his attack on Miss Logan and her assistants at a meeting of the council committee on appropriations, of which he is a member.

Addressing his remarks to Dr. James W. Manary, superintendent of the hospital, who was present at the budget hearing, Kelly declared:

"These people are all non-residents of Boston. Just as we did last year, an order will be introduced in the Council to cut from your budget $16,500—the amount of money they are paid annually.

"We'll cut $16,500 from your budget every year until the hospital trustees remove Miss Logan and her assistants."

OTHERS QUALIFIED

"These people are taking jobs from Boston residents. The only trouble with Boston City Hospital is Miss Logan and her assistants, and the sooner you get her and her associates out of there the better the hospital is going to be.

"There are plenty of Boston women qualified to fill her place and the places of her assistants."

Several councilors declared that while the Council lacked authority to discharge Miss Logan and her assistants, they would support the move to slash the total amount of their salaries from the budget each year until the trustees ousted the eight women.

Although $16,500 was slashed from last year's budget as a protest against the retention of Miss Logan, the trustees found other means of paying their salaries.

NEW MEN COMING

Pointing out that Joseph P. Manning and Dr. George Sears resigned from the board of trustees within the past week and that another trustee, Capt. George A. Parker, was a hold-over whose term expired April 30, Fish expressed the hope that their places would be filled by the mayor with "men who will heed the will of this Council and fire Miss Logan and her assistants."

The tirade against Miss Logan, who has been the object of a series of similar attacks in the Council during the past 15 months, was followed by charges by Councilors Kelly and Fish that five constables employed by the hospital were "hounding" former patients to pay hospital bills which they were unable to meet.

Fish charged that one constable told patients unable to meet their bills that they would never be admitted to the hospital again.

Kelly cited an instance of another constable who, he charges, told a poor family in his district that if they didn't pay an overdue bill he would "hound them to death."

Whiskey Feeds $1,000,000 Fire

LOGANSPORT, Pa., May 6 (INS)—Fed by 10,000 barrels of bonded whiskey, fire today destroyed the Logansport Distillery of the Pennsylvania Distilling Company, with an estimated loss that may exceed $1,000,000.

Twenty fire companies from a dozen Allegheny valley communities were given their most spectacular assignment in years as the $2,000,000 federal bonded warehouse was razed by flame and explosions that followed the advancing fire.

Joseph R. Steinman, vice-president of the company, estimated the warehouse loss at between $500,000 and $1,000,000, pending a check on the ages of whiskey consumed in the fire.

9 Widows Held In Poison Probe

PHILADELPHIA, May 6 (AP)—Two more widows—the eighth and ninth—were held today in connection with an interstate insurance murder ring accused of having poisoned, drowned and used other violent means to kill more than 100 persons in the past 10 years.

Both women, listed as Mrs. Anna Arena and Mrs. Rose Davis, were held in the deaths of their husbands—Mrs. Anna Arena on a charge of murder and Mrs. Davis on a charge of conspiring to murder.

Small Price Changes Rule in Dull Market

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Recovery signs cropped up here and there in today's stock market but most were far from conclusive.

In one of the most sluggish sessions for a year or longer, fractional price changes either way was the rule.

In the final hour improvement was retained by Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, North American, N. Y. Central, United Aircaft, Anaconda, Texas Corp. and Sears Roebuck.

Behind were U. S. Steel, General Motors and Santa Fe. Numerous issues were uncharged.

Customers were few in the boardrooms and those who put in appearance paid little attention to the dozing ticker tape. The soft coal tieup continued to cloud the speculative horizon, although action of the President in calling on operators and miners for a speedy settlement of their controversy was viewed as helpful. European and business news appeared to have scant market influence.

Bonds were selectively higher, as were commodities.

In their search for trend clues, market analysts studied the trade summary of the federal reserve board which estimated the country's department store sales last week registered an increase of 6 per cent over the like period a year ago. In the preceding week sales were unchanged from 1938 levels.

Among districts reporting sales increases were Philadelphia, Chicago, Dallas, New Yor and Kansas City. In the Richmond and San Francisco districts distribution was about even with the preceding year.

Notwithstanding this week's sharp drop in automotive output, some consolation was derived from reports stocks of used cars of around 450,000 currently are well below last year. On the other hand, sales of secondhand vehicles were said to be running 40 to 50 per cent amove the early part of the previous April.

More Free Fun To Lure World's Fair Visitors

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—As the New York World's Fair rounded out its first week today, officials announced more free "entertainment for the masses" would be provided in the hope of boosting the daily attendance.

President Grover Whalen said the Fair management would provide bands of strolling musicians, free band concerts and vaudeville shows and performances by trapeze artists. Basket lunch parties will be admitted Saturdays and Sundays.

The attendance for the first five days was announced as 1,260,000. Whalen had predicted a million would turn out the first day.

Rising discontent among concessionaires in the amusement area also harassed the head of the $160,000,000 exposition.

A committee of concessionaires threatened a lawsuit yesterday unless the zone, still partly unpaved, was provided with more lights and power. Whalen promised to have the zone completely paved and lighted by next Wednesday but rejected a demand by the concessionaires that the fair's entrance fee be reduced from 75 to 50 cents.

"BETTER TAX VISIBILITY"

TAXATION IS DEPRESSIVE—TAXATION IS DEFLATIONARY!

It has been said that the power to TAX is the power to DESTROY!

All over the country business is being destroyed by EXCESSIVE TAXATION!

The average man is not aware that the tax collector is also knocking at his door.

HIDDEN TAXES are another form of government assessment that extract the tax in a seemingly painless manner from the average man because . . .

- on every loaf of bread there are no less than 49 different hidden taxes.
- he pays four cents on every gallon of gasoline
- if he buys a package of cigarettes daily he pays $21.90 in hidden taxes yearly
- if he buys a new suit of clothes he absorbs 12 different hidden taxes.
- if he pays $400 a year in rent he pays $160 in hidden taxes.
- one-sixth of the electric light bills go to the tax collector.
- nearly 10 cents of every dollar paid for a railroad ticket goes for taxes.
- he pays approximately $5 taxes on every set of automobile tires he buys.

NEW ENGLAND INDUSTRIES BUILD NEW ENGLAND PROSPERITY!

¶ Nearly a million workers earn an annual aggregate payroll of approximately a billion dollars. Truly, industry in New England is an important source of life blood contributing to the economic health and growth of the six states.

¶ Industry in New England is the Horn of Plenty from which flows products, prosperity and employment for varied workers. Its benefits encompass not only the boundaries of the six states, but spread to every corner of the land.

¶ Industry in America was pioneered in New England, and though today there may be sections of larger expanse, it is still one of the country's most intensively developed manufacturing areas, with an unequalled industrial diversification.

¶ The WOOD PULP INDUSTRY is now being threatened by GERMANY dumping wood pulp on the AMERICAN MARKET! American standards of wages and living must be maintained. AMERICAN WORKERS in the wood pulp industry must be provided with continuous employment. These essentials can only be maintained and carried out through greater tariff protection.

Industrial Wage vs. Farm Income

America's new adventure in fixing minimum wages and maximum hours in industry through the new federal labor standards act carries this country into a field in which New Zealand, Australia and Great Britain have pioneered . . .

Unlike these other nations we apparently have not yet reached that stage of social relations with supply and demand in equation without affecting a lot of other relationships . . .

Under any system the wage must be treated as the product of the market which makes it what it is . . . Wages are not fixed by any one man or group of men . . . In other words, in America a real wage is a product of a multitude of wills . . . and I suppose that is as it should be . . .

In this country we have had a long struggle to establish the principle that there should be a minimum wage . . . Prior to 1933 America . . . in the field of labor legislation . . . across the Atlantic . . . and Down Under . . . women and children . . . sweated industries . . .

Twelve additional states . . . into the field of legislation . . . 1933 and 1937 . . . and now there is a minimum wage law . . . men as well as women and children . . . In all, 27 states and territories now have minimum wage laws . . .

Thus far, no serious attempt has been made over here to offset changes in the industrial wage by adjustments in farm income . . .

Intrigue, Romance Score On New Trans-Lux Bill

By HARRIS MORGAN

An engaging historical drama of intrigue and romance in 1870 France, with the rhymes in style of Napoleon," the current offering with a liberal dash of short subjects at the Trans-Lux.

It's the latest movie to come from the pen of the Baroness Orczy, who wrote "The Scarlet Pimpernel" and "The Emperor's Candlesticks," and it has the suspense and color which characterized her other cinematic offerings.

Although the film is the product of a little-known company, Realart-Grand Unity Films, lacks none of the beautiful by the wealthier Hollywood concerns. Settings are complete and historically accurate costumery is good, photography is expert. It's not an inspired or inspiring performance. Yet it is in every way excellent entertainment.

The story begins in the court of Louis Napoleon, emperor of France in the 60s and nephew of THE Napoleon. Our hero, who is played by Richard Barthelmess of silent-movie fame, is a noble man who becomes involved in a plot against the emperor. Though not guilty of the crime, Barthelmess is exiled from France and separated from his beautiful wife, the natural daughter of the emperor, played by the lovely Dolly Haas.

Dolly becomes a spy in the service of the emperor, and Barthelmess languishes in far-off Geneva. But eventually they are reunited. Behind the little love story floats the panorama of French history.

For supporting short subjects there are a swell FitzPatrick color film of Australia's cities, and a Pete Smith novelty that's unique and new.

'Dodge City' On Twin Bills

"Dodge City," technicolor western starring Errol Flynn, Olivia DeHavilland, Ann Sheridan, Alan Hale, Bruce Cabot and Frank McHugh, is currently showing on the scollay and Modern screens.

Dodge City, where lusty life and sudden death are close kin, springs up overnight and mushrooms itself into a lawless live-by-the-gun capital of adventurers, settlers and triggermen.

Second feature is "The Mystery of Mr. Wong," Boris Karloff's latest picture.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION, a system of voting designed to give minority groups a voice in government of cities, [illegible] Boston among

Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. W. O. B. Little, president of the Boston Federation of Women's Clubs; Miss Margaret McSweeney, Mrs. Edward L. Wise, Miss Robert L. De Normandie, Mrs. James A. Maguire, Mrs. Colin W. Mc[illegible], Dr. Mrs. Julia O'Connor Parker and Miss Rosamond R. Vahey of golf fame are actively supporting Senate Bill No. 474, which if accepted by the Legislature would cause proportional voting to apply to the Boston City Council and prominent citizens to indicate their choices first, second and third in casting ballots for candidates.

Undoubtedly, Boston women are inspired by feminine experience with proportional representation in other parts of the country.

For the first time in its history, Cleveland elected women to its Council when it adopted this election plan in 1922.

MRS. W. O. B. LITTLE

New York, imitating Cleveland in 1937, also gave the fair sex representation in its municipal chamber.

Mrs. Wise, speaking for the Boston sisters, [illegible] proportional representation. She tells us:

"Proportional representation is based upon freedom and justice to the voter. Consequently it has a distinct appeal to women, concerned as they are with obtaining better government.

"It was through the work of women, who maintained booths in subways, department stores and civic centers, that this method of choosing officials was adopted in New York.

"To us, it is the greatest single need in government today."

MAINE'S HERCULES, John B. Gagnon of Augusta, is gone. Death, attributed to cerebral hemorrhage, has ended [illegible]

Of course, recognized as one of the five strongest men in the world, Gagnon performed mighty feats. Once, in a general weight lifting contest, he raised a total of 16,520 pounds. It was not unusual for him to carry a ton of paper weighing a ton.

Thousands therefore, ask: "Did he not die young for one so powerful? Was it not reasonable to suppose he would live to be 100?"

The answer to both questions is "no." Science finds strength has little to do with longevity. Few, if any, of the great champions of lifting attained remarkable ages. John L. Sullivan, James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons and Jake Kilrain lived no longer than average men.

On the other hand, homes for the aged are filled with women who never lifted anything heavier than a pail of water.

Further proof that weak woman outlasts strong man is to be found in the files of the United States Bureau of the Census. A group of 1,000 girls was contrasted with a similar group of 1,000 boys. Twenty years later 90,939 girls were living, but only 54,761 boys. After 50 years the figures were even more significant. Then the comparison contained 79,285 survivors [illegible] 74,288.

It is also [illegible] among [illegible] animals. The goose has been known [illegible] Yet the lion also spends his time sleeping but [illegible] quarter century mark.

The slow moving [illegible] lying at 100, but the fleet tiger is a veritable Methuselah at 20.

If You Want Peace, Write to Congress

WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMEN and Senators and ask them respectfully but earnestly to adhere firmly to the American historic policy of peace. Ask them to avoid entangling alliances with any foreign nations. Ask them to insist on America keeping free from foreign conflicts. Ask them to support a proper constitutional amendment reposing the war making power of this nation in the hands of the people of the nation since they must make the sacrifice of blood and treasure to win the war and since they would lose the most in life and liberty if the war were lost.

Ask your Congressmen and Senators to give the people of America not so much the right to make war as the right to preserve the peace of America.

Human Side of News -:- by EDWIN C. HILL

A [illegible] writes me and mentions that I have [illegible] that Adolph Hitler would forever use "social security" as a [illegible] in the morning.

My friend is studiously interested in birds. Just at this time of the year [illegible] are important goings on in the bird world.

It was a good time for me to get out on the bird trails at 5:30 in the morning, as usual. But he did want to hear Hitler. After extensive [illegible] he picked the best song for his musical concert to hear. Then a sparkling [illegible] of Herr Hitler.

VERY EARLY in that morning [illegible] the marsh [illegible] and note book. I asked him [illegible] why he made that choice. His answer seemed [illegible] but it [illegible] to me.

"Do you know what a song sparrow does first in the spring?" he said.

"No," I replied.

"Well, before he starts piping up a song or attending to any other early spring business, he stakes out a bush. Naturalists call that 'establishing territory.' That's his bush, held to be simple, but more particularly against members of his own species. He might tolerate a robin but not another song sparrow. Then, before long, he has a mate.

"He is a modest little chap, with black spots on his chest, almost as insignificant as the little taxpayer of the cartoonists. But he gets himself a bush, with no inspectors or assessors nosing in, and then he starts his song—and he's a mighty nice singer."

I INTERRUPTED to ask my friend what that had to do with his choosing to hear Dr. Hitler. Didn't he know all that about the birds and the song, anyway?

"It's like this," he said. "The birds who are still doing business at the same old stand are the ones who never got together in any kind of lock step—or lock wing, to be more explicit.

"If you live long with birds, and like them and understand them, you get more of a feeling of continuity and solvency and individual freedom and living responsibility in the universe than you would if you listened to Herr Hitler and the answering "Sieg Heil" of his yes-men.

"To a bird a bush in the view is worth two in the bush. And they get by, defending only their own bush and raiding no others. That's why I picked the birds against Hitler."

NO DOUBT about it all now. Arthur Fiedler is quite the [illegible] Pops conductor. He's been at it for ten years now and has added qualities to this [illegible] institution that will keep it distinctively Boston for years to come.

Founded over fifty years ago by Major Higginson as a summer employment for the Boston Symphony orchestra, the [illegible] has flourished [illegible] a taste for good music among the general public.

But what Fiedler wants to familiarize us with. Well, that's what Mr. Fiedler intends to give. Although for the past five years ballots for request nights have been carefully tabulated, there's a slightly embarrassing sameness about the people's choice. You guessed it, "Overture to 1812," Pomp and Circumstance and "Blue Danube."

IF YOU'RE INTERESTED in acquiring ape information, the orang-outangs are the best natured of the four varieties appearing with the Ringling Bros. Circus. That's the opinion of Charlie Turner, who's been training them for 34 years.

Political Parade -:- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Our noble statesmen are so proud of their six-year New Deal record in selling us the world's most gigantic and [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] debt of [illegible] [illegible] of taxpayers [illegible] they are now seriously considering voting themselves [illegible] pensions.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

What's more, there's [illegible] a majority in the House at this moment favorable to pensions for former Congressmen.

Mr. Ramspeck's committee on Civil service will consider a bill that would give the lame duck statesmen up to $900 per annum for life and the House would pass it if it dared, which it does not.

SO MANY of the gentlemen on the Hill are of the opinion that a vote for such a measure at this time would be political suicide, that in all probability this proposal will fail through.

Our spend-thrift Congress—those Congresses since the New Deal came in have been the worst in American history—would grab something for themselves if they had the nerve.

CONGRESSMAN RAMSPECK
Will Weigh Lame Duck Grab.

Congressmen who want the pensions were asleep at the switch at the psychological moment. That [illegible] four or five years ago, when the spending spree was in full blast, the huge debt was just in its early snowball stage.

But the future has at last caught up with the present. The New Deal is going into next year's campaign with a new law, which it will have to pass, increasing the limit on the national debt above the statutory 45 billions. On the eve of the elections the Democratic Party will have to make public confession, as it were, that the New Deal social and economic policies have been more expensive than a foreign war!

The Congressman who voted to give himself a pension would be promoted to private life.

EVER IN MIND is what happened when in 1872 Congress passed the famous "Salary Grab Act," under which the pay of Senators and House members was increased from $5000 to $7500 a year.

It was at this time that the pay of the President of the United States was raised from $25,000 to $50,000.

The additional cost for Senatorial and Congressional salaries alone was $972,000 a year.

The resentment of the country over this grab was so bitterly intense that without waiting to be punished at the polls, Congress repealed the whole salary grab act in 1873.

DURANTE RECEIVES FAIR COLORS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, May 6. Jimmy Durante's horse, Westchester, won in the 5th race at Jamaica a few days ago. Durante's racing colors are blue and gold—the New York World's Fair colors . . . Jimmy has official permission to use these colors—permission which finally was granted but not without some objection on the part of Mr. Whalen. Grover at first refused to award the colors to the owner of a one horse stable. "New York's my home," Durante finally announced Whalen, "and if anybody starts countin' how many horses a guy's got, I'll only prove that New York's a one-horse town."

DEAFEN DEPT.: Because of the war scare, Rube Goldberg, the cartoonist, won't go to Europe this year. Rube is one of the few Americans who know what it is to be stranded in a foreign country at the outbreak of a war. He was in Paris in the summer of 1914, rushed for passage home and was able to secure a reservation only because a stranger recognized him and supplied the currency demanded by the steamship company who refused to honor letters of credit . . . Rube couldn't transfer the possessions from his apartment because all French taxicabs had been commandeered for the drive to the Marne . . . Another American, driving a huge red car, volunteered to do the moving job. He was Jack Johnson.

DRAMA DEPT. John Emery accepted the leading role in "Wuthering Heights" on three days' notice. The critics were very kind to him, although they panned the play . . . After the opening, Emery waited for the morning papers to read the first reviews. He left his table, went outside to buy the papers, read them and returned to his group with dark smudges painted around his right eye. "Look," said Emery, "what the critics gave us."

By GEORGE HOLLAND

EXCLUSIVE: You have been reading about the prominent Republican lawyer who has volunteered his services gratis to the pursuit of the $2000 legislative probe of pardons in Massachusetts . . . His name hasn't been mentioned . . . He is Kenneth D. Johnson, former judge of Quincy court, and defeated candidate in the Republican primaries last year for the office of lieutenant-governor . . . Few except Judge Johnson's intimate friends know his middle name . . . The "D" stands for "Dewey" . . . Is it "catching?"

STRIKE TALK is strong in negotiations between the management and the union of a Cambridge factory . . . If the strike happens, it will break Monday . . . But the interesting feature of the parleys is that the union insists that oldtimers in the plant's personnel are being shunted to the shelf by being given only three days a week whereas six days employment is warranted by the business being done . . . It marks the first strong stand by a union against the alleged trend to discard men over 40, regardless of service.

City Greeter Lou Brems will announce Monday that Daniel J. Coughlin, the Charlestown hero, has been chosen as marshal of the Bunker Hill Day Parade . . . Last year he was chief of staff . . . Strong support has been mustered for Stephen J. Hughes, director of the municipal bureau, for appointment as city penal institutions commissioner . . . Irving Wickes, Roxbury lad who played in several Federal theater shows in Boston, had a small part in "The Young Mr. Lincoln"—scoring in his first try for a job in Hollywood . . . His brother, John C. Wickes, director of the Dorchester Center Community Chorus, has written the new pop song "You're Amazing," with Mat Madsen and Edgar J. Magee . . . Friends of the Wickes will toss him a testimonial spread Wednesday next in Lorchester.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY. All along the Inside today reports were circulated that one of the most famous Boston hotels has either changed hands or will in the proximate future . . . Jack Brown, Jr., of the Casa Manana will be over a ten voyage party again this year, with Robert Mosby booking the arrangements . . . Jack will sail for Europe next month. He toured the Continent last summer too . . . Two years ago, when Pretty Jessie Goodner was dancing at the Cocoanut Grove this column spoke of her prospective marriage to a young Annapolis man. Richard Gould . . . Midshipman Gould is now Ensign Gould. Miss Goodner is appearing at the Mayfair, and the prospective marriage is still in that stage . . . But it will take place at last, about a year hence after the husband-to-be has fulfilled the service requirement of remaining a bachelor for 18 months after graduation.

The Colstons, a marvellous dance team, also at the Mayfair, are a brother and sister, and two of sixteen children. Their mother merits a Ripley . . . Sixteen children notwithstanding, at the age of 60 Mrs. Colston was in such perfect condition that she was able to do a difficult acrobatic feat she featured when she was a standard act in vaudeville . . . The stunt is called "spotting flipflops," the back turnover series while keeping a constant takeoff spot. But Mrs. Colston performs it from a six-foot high table . . .

I SAY CHALLEDON in the Derby, come mud—come anything . . . Which should make Johnstown a virtual certainty to win . . . The Bruins' individual "players cut" on the Stanley cup series will be closer to $1200 than the $2200 approximated . . . Many a deduction comes out of the players' share including expenses for their official biographers, the newsmen.

LISTEN, WORLD!

A Closed Room In Life

By Elsie Robinson

THAT FEELING which sweeps over you lately—that it's no use going on, that nothing really matters, nothing's worth while.

You can't explain it. You can't make people understand why you feel that way. Perhaps you don't really understand it yourself.

It isn't that life has become unusually hard. You've been through much harder times than these times when you've been utterly heartbroken, yet they didn't get you entirely down. In spite of the tears and terror you were still interested in life, still eager to go on. And you felt that you could go on.

BUT LATELY, it's different. Lately you've had spells when you've been absolutely SUNK. Why? You don't know. You can't tell. If you try to tell people about it, they say:

"For heaven's sake, snap out of it! What have YOU got to worry about? Maybe you haven't much money, but who has? And you're healthy. You've got a nice family . . . people who love you . . friends. Then why all the grief? Look at the poor devils who haven't got a thing! They're the ones who have a right to holler. But you—you're sitting pretty."

They're right. You know they're right. Every word they say is true. Compared with millions of unfortunates, you're lucky. And you should be happy and grateful about it—and filled with ambition.

But you're not. You despise yourself because you're not. You call yourself every sort of a name. You "count your blessings." No go! You still feel that everything's blotto. So there's nothing to be done about it, you've just got to stand it. And you can't even expect sympathy, for it's all your own fault. You've made a mess of life.

Other people aren't like that. They know how to manage. They never fade out like this.

BUT YOU'RE WRONG. You aren't an exceptional experience. It comes to everyone.

Just as floods must [illegible] famines must [illegible] lives. It is possible for life to [illegible] a [illegible] pitch of emotion. We can't [illegible] with excitement or eagerness, [illegible] with despair. There are times when we must be empty when life must be a closed room.

THEN WHAT? Why, then, you must just throw up your hands and [illegible] Don't go [illegible] Don't [illegible] Nothing's wrong. Life hasn't stopped. You haven't failed. This is merely a part of life's rhythm. The ebbing [illegible] comes before the quickening. So just [illegible] all [illegible] between ebb and [illegible].

EVEN THOUGH FOR A WHILE YOU CANNOT FEEL IT YOU ARE ACTUALLY LIVING AS MUCH IN LIFE'S WILDEST HOURS. PERHAPS EVEN MORE!

The room is not really closed. It is only quiet. Stand steady. Go on [illegible] [illegible] AND PRESENTLY YOU WILL FIND AN OPENING DOOR.

Love And Marriage

He's Seeking 'Miss Right'

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Owing to a fall when I was in school I'm a little lame and not very tall, just a little over five feet. I can't dance, or go in for sports but I don't drink and I have well. I have few friends as I'm very sensitive. I'm Irish and have been in this country seventeen years. My parents are dead and I have only one brother in the old country.

I would certainly like to make some congenial friends, a real pal. But it's hard when one rooms in a house and eats one's meals in a restaurant. Do you think I'd have any chance in finding a nice girl?

LONELY.

I can only suggest that you try to meet new girls through people you know. If you belong to a church or some of the young people's societies and there are always social gatherings connected with political clubs, the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus have plenty of social gatherings. Avoid the type of girl who is out for a good time and the respectable girl you should have no difficulty in making friends among them.

Don't try to make friends through correspondence clubs, or matrimonial agencies, they're all out for money, and some of them are decidedly dangerous. Best of luck to you.

Fashion Flash

IN SPITE of the recent threatened return of the Ice Age, cottons are looking up in all the shops in town. And so good is the feminine response to all the cotton promotions, that they say gingham is all sold out in many of the mills producing it. The whitegold of the south is in a sizzling market again!

You may have a gay, "finger-free" gloves made of it. Handbags of checked cotton with leather trimmings are popular.

The glamour girl of summer dances is apt to be seen in the airy blue and white cotton frock with three-tier ruffled skirt, and a bolero laced with a blue ribbon.

Last we saw one shop was having a hard time keeping high tiny-checked gingham suits in stock at some like ten dollars. They were tied blue or black and white, with skirts that were pleated all around, pleats stitched just below the hipline. Jakets were short, hipped in at the waist, and had a double collar of whipcord. But neat!—ALICE BRINK

CAREER AS TRAINER BECKONS MEADE

By DON MEADE

(As told to Dave Wilson and Jack Conway)

Copyright, 1939, by Boston Evening American, Inc., and Don Meade

When I reach the end of the jockey's trail, I shall become a trainer of thoroughbreds.

I never want to get into a saddle in a race when I have not the necessary ability to win.

Mack Garner was riding at the age of 45, but he was the exception.

The average top jockey has lost his magic at the age of 30 to 32. When I reach that period in my riding career, I intend to step out as a jockey and become a trainer.

I think jockeys become excellent trainers. I refer you to the success many of the jockeys who have trained Stagehand and other great horses. I believe many jockeys have the opportunity to develop new riders. I think that the best kind of instructor for a youngster who is anxious to learn to ride is a former jockey.

When my number goes up as a jockey, I shall not have to look to anybody for financial help. I have been buying an annuity with the money I have been receiving in stake races. The annuity is almost

Harry L. Clark Visits Col. Egan

Exchange "Nerts" During Meeting

DAVE EGAN HARRY CLARK

THE DOOR TO the editorial room swept open with such suddenness I thought the hurricane had returned to Boston. A hatless individual rushed across the room with the speed of Eddie Miller when he is executing a double play at National League Park . . .

"Where is Col. Dave Egan" demanded the newcomer . . .

"I am Colonel Egan," said Dave. "Now if you can give me the winner of the Kentucky Derby I should appreciate the favor."

"I am Harry Lincoln Clark and you have not acknowledged my latest letter," asserted Clark as he raised his voice to a point where I didn't have to strain my ears to hear every word he uttered. "I am an officer of the A. A. U. and I don't like some of the things you have written about our organization."

"I published the only letter I have received from you," declared the Colonel, "I gave it the lead position in my column so that all Newport as well as all of the descendants of the passengers on the Mayflower could read it."

. . . . . .

"Nerts to you Colonel"
"Nerts to you Mr Clark"
"Nerts Nerts Nerts"

"A picture," shouted the camera man . . .

. . . . . .

"Nerts, Colonel"
"Nerts to you, Mr. Clark."

"This seems my lucky day," said the Colonel. "Now if somebody could only guarantee El Chico will run as good as I think he will do I'd place a few bobs on what I think will be the Derby winner . . .

"I get sick and go broke when I eat chalk," protested the Colonel. "Hey, boy! A couple of bobs of the Egan bankroll on El Chico to win."

"Looks as if El Chico now can be counted out of the money," remarked Clocker Bill Smith. "I'll take Johnstown."

BILL CONNELLY

Diamond Ring 160-pound king, who will fight in tri-city show at Garden Monday.

DOM PERFETTI

Thrice national All-America champion, who is a member of Albany team which will show at Garden Monday.

SULLIVAN, BELUSHKO FACE 175-LB. GREATS

Two national A. A. U. boxing champions and one national All-America champion will appear at the Garden Monday when teams from Albany and Philadelphia meet Boston's finest in a tri-city show promoted by the Irish-American A. A.

There will be 18 bouts staged—four entrants in each class at 118, 126, 147, 160, 175 pounds and heavyweights. Boston will have two representatives at each weight, and Albany and Philadelphia will have one each.

It will be the last indoor amateur show of the season.

SPEARY INVINCIBLE

Heading the list of invaders will be William Speary of Philadelphia, 118 pounds.

Speary has won a National A. A. U. title for three consecutive years—1937 in the 112's at the Garden—1938 and 1939 in the 118's, at Boston last year and last month in San Francisco.

Then there are Cozy Storace of Rome, N. Y., 1939 National welterweight champion, and Bradley Lewis of Albany, who won the 160's in the 1938 Nationals held at Boston. (Another national champion—the All-America titleholder in the 118's for the last 3 years—Dom Perfetti of Amsterdam, N. Y., will have a large following tooting for him to win Monday night.

COONAN AND FURY

The light heavyweight division should produce some grand punching. Boston will have Tommy Sullivan of South Boston, who won the Diamond Ring Championship at the Boston Arena last Monday night, and Alex Belushko of Cambridge, another slugging 175 pounder of note.

Sullivan and Belushko will face Sergeant Charles Perry of Albany, formerly of the West Point colored cavalry, and Vince Kozak of Philadelphia, the Middle Atlantic A. A. U. champion.

Great things are expected of Charlie Ketchuck, the Albany heavy, who has two victories over Buddy Moore, the National Golden Gloves king. He has a beautiful hook and plenty of snap in his jab, and can put ovre a k.o. in true championship fashion.

He will have his hands full in Tony Ferry of Fall River and Herbie Coonan of Rochdale, the two Boston standard bearers.

St. John Invades Heights

Warm weather entices Freddi Maguire's Boston College outfit and St. John's University of Long Island to show at their best this afternoon at Alumni Field.

The Blackbirds of St. John's U., more famous for their stellar basketball teams, come to Boston with a better than average diamond collection. Their chief claim to fame is the defeat of Fordham, one of the East's top college outfits. And since the Maguire Eagles did exactly the same thing two weeks ago when the Rams stopped off for an expected breather today's game should be on the interesting and well played side.

Big Ed Shea, captain of the invaders, who pitched and won the Fordham contest will take the hill again this afternoon.

Tabbed as potential professional timber, Shea should make the Eagle batters work extra hard for their base hits.

As far as can be ascertained the same lineup which ended the B. C. losing streak the first of the week against Boston University with the exception of the pitcher, will start for the Eagles. George Fallon, Quincy senior, probably will pitch with Sil Somy of Medford and Fred Leahy of Somerville ranking numbers two and three respectively. Ed Ash of Somerville, big gun of the last game, will play left field, John Buckley, Malden slugger, will be in center field and Brad Martin of Plymouth will complete the outfield.

Capt. Tom Palumbo, of Somerville, whose injured thumb is much better, will be at third base.

Norm Pilote of Whitman is the shortstop, Bob Cromwell of Brighton the second sacker and the clever Ed Sawyer of Brockton rounds out the infield at first base. Frank Burns, dependable team man, will catch. That lineup packs power, so Mr. Shea will have to be in top form to keep his team high up in the standing of Eastern College teams—the position they enjoy at the present time. The lineups:

Werber Fizzles Afield in Debut

By WALTER KILEY

Imagine the hotbed Boston would be if this were four months later . . . both Boston ball clubs leading their respective leagues . . . wonder what the odds would be on a parlay that they'd both win the pennant . . . pretty terrific, no doubt about that . . . must remember to find out from a professional odds-maker.

Great pay by Al Lopez when he picked Billy Werber, making his debut with Cincinnati, off first in the opening inning . . . particularly with Linus Frey, a left handed batter at the plate and in the way . . . Lopez says he got that one from studying Lombardi . . . a side-arm snap throw around the batter . . . Lopez got Jim Tabor the same way in Florida this Spring . . . he makes it look just as though he were tossing the ball back at the pitcher . . . Picture Werber's surprise when Fletcher put the ball to him.

Coach Mike Kelly was sure Al Simmons could reach home with game winning run in the ninth inning on Lopez' single to Goodman in right . . . Stengel thought so, too . . . Case said the Reds' infield was playing in and that Simmons had a big lead and was away like a shot . . . Kelly felt he should have made the try for home because only a perfect throw could catch him . . . Lopez' hit went right at Goodman and the throw happened to be dead on the line . . . thus leaving room for plenty of second guessing.

LADIES' DAY TODAY

Ladys' Day at the Beehive this afternoon . . . Frank Fay's lovely dancing girls must have seriously bothered Werber . . . had a wretched day in the field . . . making three boners, two of which resulted in runs . . . but he's a great leadoff man . . . always on the bases . . . four times on Friday . . . although Debs Garms went him one better . . . the Bee was on five times out of six.

Boston's infamous east wind robbed the Bees of successive homers in the 11th . . . Simmons and Cuccinello shot rifle bolts at the left center fence . . . the wind, blowing dead against, held them up just enough so that Craft and Berger snared them with their backs to the wall . . . the score was tied at the time.

Eddie Miller gets to look more like Rabbitt Maranville every day . . . what with his vest pocket catches and "belly" slides . . . and his terrific fielding . . . started three rallies, too, twice with doubles and once a single . . . all three times being leadoff man . . . but only once did he score . . . what a great double play combination, this pair, Miller and Cuccinello.

A masterful pitching performance by Whitey Moore . . . particularly in the pinches . . . showed more speed, too, than any pitcher the Bees have faced all season . . . has courage and ability to bear down in the clutch . . . with Miller on third and Simmons on first, none out in the fifth, he forced Cuccinello to strike out swinging at three pitches . . . struck out Lopez on just three more . . . and then forced Fletcher to pop weakly.

This Errickson has plenty of intestinal fortitude . . . Baser loaded in the fifth, none out, McCormick, Lombardi and Craft, three dreaded batters coming up, and he gets by without a run being scored on him . . . How the Boston fans enjoy riding Werber . . . they don't miss an opportunity to make him the goat.

Imagine---

Frick Fine's Terry, Blades

NEW YORK, May 6 (INS)—At practice before game time at the Polo Grounds, Ray Blades, St. Louis Cards' manager, accosted Bill Terry and said:

"Branch Rickey's in town and he'd like you to call him after the game."

As a result of this scrap of conversation both managers found telegrams in the dressing rooms after the game from Ford Frick, president of the National League, advising each had been fined $10 for "fraternizing."

Sox Counting On Mose Grove

Detroit run, a slip which cost Rich a shutout.

The Sox party are greatly encouraged by the quality of their recent pitching, the grand performances of Elden Auker, Joe Heving and Rich wiping away some of the worries of Manager Cronin over his mound staff.

For Grove it will be a chance to win his first game of the season, a win which despite fine efforts has been elusive to date.

The 4 to 1 win over the Tigers was fifth straight since leaving Boston last week, and ushers the team to its best away-from-home stay in many years.

The Sox went into first place when the Yankees dropped a 10-inning 2 to 1 decision over the Cleveland Indians, putting the Yanks one-half a game back and in a virtual tie with the White Sox.

Teddy Williams, hero of the opening game with the Tigers, when his two mighty homers broke up the battle, was an easy victim of Schoolboy Rowe, who other than for the homers by Cronin and Foxx, pitched well throughout.

The Grand Stand Manager

Boston and New England baseball fans are pouring letters into this office for publication in "The Grandstand Manager." It is the first opportunity the fans have ever had to air their views on baseball each day. And it has certainly made a hit with them.

You may write anything you wish about baseball. Restrict your letter to 100 words, and write only on one side of the paper.

Address all communications to "The Grandstand Manager", Boston Evening American, No. 5 Winthrop Square, Boston.

Miller in Sensation

IS EDDIE MILLER really worth the $50,000 Bob Quinn paid for him?

This was the question that was being asked at the Spring training camps. Eddie has certainly showed Boston fans how to play the role of a good shortstop. Coupled with Tony Cuccinello, Miller makes part of the greatest double play combination ever seen in the National League.

Miller has been the chief factor in two of the Bees wins this year. It was his sensational fielding that did the trick.

ROBERT RYAN,

Says Trades Failed

I read your "Grandstand Manager" every day and think it's swell . . . Here's what I have to say:

The Sox on paper, shape up as a strong team. But really so far they have NOT shown this advantage. It seems in those deals they "ripped" off last winter Cleveland and Detroit really benefited, and not the Sox. I really don't think that Wade will be of use to them. What they still need are pitchers not bygone stars. But really the weather man hasn't let them strut their stuff. I hope they snap out of it before it's too late.

AL KONTRIMAS, 123 Webster ave., Cambridge.

Cheer for Bees

THE BUMPTIOUS Bees, composed mainly of big time orphans and outcasts, but sprinkled here and there with much-sought players like Tony Cuccinello and Al Lopez, and invigorated by the promising youngster, Eddie Miller, are cockily sitting alone, to the consternation of expensively organized rival teams.

Be it a flash in the pan, or a local new deal in baseball, the surge of Casey Stengel's upstarts brings joy to long suffering Boston fandom. It is, therefore, very welcome, and may joy prevail in Boston throughout the season.

CHARLES McCARTHY.

TO JOE CRONIN

Sox need catcher and utility outfielder with punch. Joe Glenn, catcher, and Myril Hoag, outfielder of St. Louis Browns would look very, very good in Red Sox uniforms. Cronin could give Browns Gene Desautels, Fabian Gaffke and Jake Wade for these players.

Lefty Lefebvre could be recalled to take over Wade's place on Sox pitching rooster.

With Hoag, Peacock and Nunenkamp the Red Sox would have three great pinch hitters as well as three of the finest utility players in the league.

P. S.—To Editor—

Your Grandstand Manager idea is a wow. The fans are eating it up—it makes great copy.

Boston Baseball Leadership

A REAL BOSTON baseball fan is one who is always glad to see either the Sox or Bees come out on top. Boston can well be proud of the records the Boston teams made in the past. And here is why—

The greatest outfield ever to play baseball — Speaker, Hooper and Lewis.

All-time greatest third baseman—Jimmie Collins.

Greatest all-time pitcher — Cy Young.

Most colorful player—Rabbit Maranville.

Braves miracle team of 1914 in last place on fourth of July, won pennant and first team to win four straight games in World Series. And only used three pitchers.

All-time batting champion — Hughie Duffy, .438.

The original Slide Kelley—Mike Kelley.

First ball player to enlist for war—Hank Gowdy, and one of the most loved leaders in the game. Bob Quinn, who puts the love of the game before the dollar. So let's all pull for the Bees and Red Sox to finish on top.

GEO. H. McLAUGHLIN,
14 Antrim St., East Boston.

* * *

ALTHOUGH TED Williams, the sensational rookie as a number of the sports writers tab him, is now batting well over the .300 mark, I think Boston's sports writers are putting it on a little too thick in facts relating to Ted.

The Sunday that Williams demonstrated his powerful hitting ability, even though the Red Sox were defeated by the Athletics, the pencil pushers next day colored their copy with the terrific feats of Williams at the plate.

However, the very next day against the Senators, Ted fell down badly in his hitting and failed to come through in the pinch. The sports writers were put in quite a predicament. The day before they had covered the pages of Boston papers with colorful copy and the next day they attempted to hush up the fact that Ted had gone sour.

Why not give Ted a break and lay off that built up copy? It worked poorly in the case of young Bob Feller.

FRED HANDEL, Boston.

Editor's note: Did you note what Williams did in Detroit on Thursday, Fred? Two homers.

Freddie Hutchinson's Fate

PERHAPS NOW the fans won't measure a player's worth by the price tag which is attached to him. That this expenditure is not an exact yardstick of an operative's ability was recently proved when Freddie Hutchinson, who was purchased by the Detroit Tigers from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League for a sum of $100,000, was sent back to the minors.

Now instead of wizard he'll be called "The $100,000 Lemon." Not pleasant, but that's baseball.

WALTER SHUTE,
20 Constance street, Malden.

Yesterday's Heroes

RED SOX

Joe Cronin, for his two-run, game winning homer.

PITCHER

Woodrow Rich, holding Tigers to three hits.

BEES

PITCHER

A point will be awarded each time a player is named in "Yesterday's Heroes." The weekly standing will be published each Monday. Regular players on both the Bees and Sox and pitchers as well who top the ratings at the end of the season will each receive a handsome Gruen Precision Veri-Thin Moderne 17-jewels wrist watch.

World's Skating Champs In Arena Roller Derby

Is the Roller Derby, which opens next Monday evening at the Boston Arena, the roughest of all American sports? So say sport fans and experts in many of the cities in which this newest of athletic events has been presented.

One of the things which tends to make the Roller Derby a gruelling and bone bruising affair is the fact that the skaters are permitted to block off opponents when they are trying for points and the blocking adds greatly to the excitement produced by the thrilling speed at which the racers whirl around the steeply banked, 18 laps to the mile oval track.

The young men and young women who will race in Boston number some of the greatest professional roller skating stars in the world. Many of them hold one or more world speed records for banked roller tracks.

There are many individual stars on the two teams which makes teamwork play an important part.

The Boston White Shirts are matched against Eleanor Powell's Hollywood Stars for the 31-day race here. Racing is from 8 until 11 o'clock each evening and the team gaining the most points nightly will be awarded a $250 prize.

Eaglets of '18' Honor Jacobs

The class of 1918, Boston College high school, will honor their former classmate, George Jacobs of Beachmont, new coach for Villanova, on Monday, May 15, when Boston College and Villanova clash in their annual baseball game at University Heights.

A presentation will be made to George before the game by Daniel J. McDevitt, chairman of the day. Others assisting are as follows: Rev. Father Edward J. Sullivan, S. J., vice-president; Nathaniel J. Hasenfus, president; Charles Foley, second vice-president; John Butler, secretary; Clarence F. Devereaux, treasurer; William P. Elbery, past president.

'HAPPY' FARREN ON GOODWIN CARD

The preliminary card for the Goodwin A. C. boxing show at the Boston Garden next Friday night will feature the professional debut of John "Happy" Farren, South Boston, former amateur 126-pound champion and one of the standout stars of the pure boxing season now nearing its close.

It has been announced by matchmaker Rip Valenti that Farren will make his first start with the pros, meeting Peter Kane, East Boston, in the opening four-round preliminary on the card which features a 10-round return clash between Mike Kaplan, Dorchester, and Cocoa Kid, Hartford, former N. E. welterweight champion.

Henry Chmielewski, the Polish middleweight who hits like a heavyweight, has been signed to fight Irish Tommy O'Boyne in the eight-round semi-final.

The remainder of the program lists three sixes—Sam Shumway, Webster, who has been slugging out wins over all opposition, vs. Al Shanks, newcomer from Montreal; Irish Johnny Craven, New York, vs. Young Byron, Roxbury, in a return bout, and Jerry Zullo, Chelsea, vs. Dom DeCiantis, Providence.

paid for, and I shall be receiving income from it before my days as an active jockey are complete.

I wish more jockeys provided for the day when they will be unable to win races in competition. The trouble with many of the jockeys is that they get into the big money when they are too young, and do not know how to hold on to it.

Racing has become a great big business as well as a sport, and I intend to make it my life's work. I shall always strive to lift racing to the highest possible standard.

Since I got into my difficulties in Florida, people have been friendly towards me. In conversation few people have mentioned the fact I was suspended. The public is fair, and is anxious to help one along the come back trail.

When I have been booed, I have gritted my teeth and become more determined than ever to win. I have kept trying, and have in many cases changed the boos to cheers.

Before closing I am going to let you in on one of my riding secrets. I ride with short stirrups. I do this to keep most of my weight on the horse's shoulders rather than on his back. Thoroughbreds are like human beings in the fact they are better able to carry weight on their shoulders than on their backs.

I shall be at Narragansett Park today riding Early Delivery, but I shall give more than a thought to the great Kentucky Derby at Louisville. It was in 1933 that I won the Derby while up on Broker's Tip. I still consider that one of my greatest racing thrills.

As I stated in my article yesterday, I believe the speedy Johnstown will win the Derby with Challedon second and T. M. Dorsett third.

If the track should be muddy, I would favor Challedan with Johnstown second and T. M. Dorsett third.

I believe the Derby will be a great race. It will have its usual color, and my only regret is that when the band is playing "My Old Kentucky Home" and "The Star Spangled Banner" Don Meade isn't going postward.
